EDUCATION

Durham University	Durham, United Kingdom
Bachelor of Laws (Hons)	2016 – 2019

While pursuing a bachelor of laws in Durham University, I was heavily involved in college Rugby, as well as often competing with the Durham Mooting Society. My dissertation was written on financial regulation, advocating for the greater use of criminal measures in enforcement.

LeWagon Coding Bootcamp	Shanghai
Certified Full-stack Developer	June 2018 – August 2018

LeWagon allowed me to explore my curiosity in coding by teaching me all the skills necessary for web development, such as Ruby on Rails, a coding language popular used with web-apps like AirBnB. It became a solid platform for me to branch out to other technologies such as React, React Native, and Python.

Hong Kong International School	Hong Kong
Secondary Education	2012 – 2016

Completed my High School/Secondary education at HKIS, where in my senior year I ran my own service club, Service on Saturdays. The primary goal was to teach underprivileged children English on Saturdays, giving them the exposure that they wouldn't otherwise receive. In this time, I have also been published in the South China Morning Young Post for my article advocating for greater environmental protection in Hong Kong, as well as placing second in a local prose competition for my short reading of Oliver Twist. I have also represented my school for multiple sports at the junior varsity and varsity level, ranging from Football to Rugby.
